

INTERNATIONAL BASKETBALL LEAGUE TO HOLD PLAYER TRYOUTS
IN ORLANDO FLORIDA ON THURSDAY MARCH 25TH

IBL TRYOUTS ARE IN COOPERATION WITH WINNING WAYS AND BASKETBALL EYE

Winning Ways Pro International and Basketball Eye are proud to present the official International Basketball League Orlando Tryout. The IBL is a sixth year minor professional basketball league with its season running from mid April through July 3rd, 2010. This tryout will take place Thursday, March 25th at the Lake Brantley Athletic Complex. Players will experience a traditional WWPI/BE tryout atmosphere while being evaluated by IBL representatives. At least 4 teams will be represented at the tryout, and a select number of players will be guaranteed roster spots through their participation in this event. The tryout will include pro drill sets and controlled scrimmages.

Who: All male players interested in playing professional basketball that have exhausted their college eligibility.

When: March 25, 2010 (6:00pm – 10:30pm: Check in begins at 5:00pm)

Price: $75/player

Where: Lake Brantley Athletic Complex, 991 Sand Lake Road Altamonte Springs, FL

Contact: Terrance Dickens at (ph) 503-805-3311

Why play in the IBL: The International Basketball League is a sixth year professional basketball league. After the 2007 IBL season, 102 IBL players went on to play overseas—this established the IBL as the ‘place to play’ to get an overseas job or to maintain an overseas job. Playing in the IBL (mid April through July 3rd, 2010) is the best way for players to get in shape and sharpen their skills so that—the player is in the best position (video, stats and being in shape) to get or maintain an overseas job.

About—Basketball Eye

Basketball Eye is a revolutionary, international network serving to connect basketball players, teams, coaches and agents across the globe. A comprehensive and online multi-media tool, Basketball Eye has maximized global player exposure and the transfer of pertinent player information to ultimately be seen and be connected to the basketball community. By removing the need for players to send costly DVD packages of game footage and reducing the travel time for coaches scouting top talent, Basketball Eye has provided a streamlined solution for hundreds of thousands of members within international basketball. Basketball Eye provides a user-friendly tool for professional basketball players to upload their player history, statistics, and past game footage to showcase the best of their skills in an individualized online profile. The information is housed in a searchable database seen by over 5,000 coaches, recruiters and agents worldwide. Coaches in turn, can use the site as a resource to communicate with the players for potential job placements, keep up to date on the hottest talent in the game and negotiate job contracts. Providing the ability for coaches to search players by Name, Gender, Position, Height, Weight, Years of Playing Experience, and School, teams are able to find the right match to complete their roster with the click of a button! Additionally, both the players and coaches are privy to special events such as international exposure camps, tournaments and tours organized by Basketball Eye and its partners to facilitate communication between players and recruiters.

Basketball Eye has changed the game by taking recruiting into the 21st century.

Be Seen and Be Connected.

I (signature) _____ realize as a volunteer tryout participant I will not be paid, I am not covered under workmen's compensation and I am not insured by the team. I hereby waive, relinquish and release any future claims against the IBL and/or the TEAM, the GYM, etc. I am responsible for my own health insurance- Signature:

As a volunteer tryout participant, I understand and I acknowledges that dangers of personal injury are inherent in participating in the sport of basketball whether in a game, scrimmage, training session, clinic or demonstration—so I expressly and voluntarily assumes all risk of death or personal injury sustained while participating in such activities, including the risk of hidden, latent or obvious defects in any of the facilities or equipment used- Signature:

The volunteer tryout participant acknowledges that the team has not made it a condition precedent to entering into a contract that the player participates in the workouts. Tryouts and practices are not a pre-requisite to making a team- Signature:

This release of liability from the volunteer tryout participant applies to the referees, the gymnasium, the league, the city and/or school and/or private organization that own the gym. I acknowledge that injuries are a part of sports and I assume responsibility for any injuries that occur to me. I acknowledge that the gym, school or facility has nothing to do with the tryout- Signature:

In consideration for being able to play for/with and/or tryout for the amateur team, the undersigned player hereby executes this Waiver and Release of Liability ('WAIVER') to and for the benefit of the following: The TEAM and its officers, employees, agents, advisors, trainers, physicians and licensees and the IBL and its officers, employees, agents, advisors, trainers, physicians and licensees- Signature:

I realize that although the IBL is known as a 'pro league' but many teams in the IBL are technically amateur teams in that they do not pay players. Some teams are non-profit teams as well—and so I understand that the cost of playing on a team (if selected to a team) may fall on me in regards to housing, food, living, etc. Signature:

I choose to play and in fact, I would be playing elsewhere in open gyms and recreational games if I were not playing for this amateur trout weekend right now, so any injuries that occur in this situation would have just as easily occurred in any other game that I would have been playing. I carry my own health insurance. Signature:
